Sign Language: Hands That Talk

Imagine having a full conversation without using a word. That's exactly what people do when they use sign language. Instead of using their voices, they use their hands. Some sign language is only made up of hand gestures. Some is made up of hand gestures and facial expressions. Some is made up of hand gestures, facial expressions, and body language.

Sign language is a visual language. It uses gestures and facial expressions to convey meaning. It is not a spoken language. It is a visual language. It is a language that is used by people who are deaf or hard of hearing. It is a language that is used by people who are blind or visually impaired. It is a language that is used by people who are deaf-blind.
