Genesis Of Industrial Capital:

The Genesis of Industrial Capital Pat Hudson,1986 This book analyses the sources of finance used in the Yorkshire wool textile sector during a period of rapid expansion considerable technical change and the gradual transformation from domestic and workshop production to factory industry Although there has been much recent debate about capital investment proportions and their sources nationally there is no other study of a region or section capable of testing various hypotheses current in the general literature of the British industrial revolution How was capital amassed in proto industry How important were merchants in building factories What role did landowners and the local banking sector What influence did trade credit and fluctuations in trade credit have on the expansion of productive enterprise How important was reinvestment and what determined both profitability and the extent to which it was ploughed back into business The answers to these questions have value for all students of the industrialisation process whilst the detailed material on Yorkshire is of interest for local study and provides a model of the questions which could be asked in other similar regional studies of the future

The Genesis of Industrial Capital in the West Riding Wool Textile Industry C1770-1850 P. Hudson,1981 The Industrial Revolution Pat Hudson,2014-08-29 This is an introduction to the Industrial Revolution which offers an integrated account of the economic and social aspects of change during the period Recent revisionist thinking has implied that fundamental change in economic social and political life at the time of the Industrial Revolution was minimal or non existent The author challenges this interpretation arguing that the process of revision has gone too far emphasizing continuity at the expense of change and neglecting many historically unique features of the economy and society Elements given short shrift in many current interpretations are reassigned their central roles The Ashgate Companion to the History of Textile Workers, 1650-2000 Els Hiemstra-Kuperus,2016-04-01 This impressive collection offers the first systematic global and comparative history of textile workers over the course of 350 years This period covers the major changes in wool and cotton production and the global picture from pre industrial times through to the twentieth century After an introduction the first part of the book is divided into twenty national studies on textile production over the period 1650 2000 To make them useful tools for international comparisons each national overview is based on a consistent framework that defines the topics and issues to be treated in each chapter The countries described have been selected to include the major historic producers of woollen and cotton fabrics and the diversity of global experience and include not only European nations but also Argentina Brazil China Egypt India Japan Mexico Turkey Uruguay and the USA The second part of the book consists of ten comparative papers on topics including globalization and trade organization of production space identity workplace institutions production relations gender ethnicity and the textile firm These are based on the national overviews and additional literature and will help apply current interdisciplinary and cultural concerns to a subject traditionally viewed largely through a social and economic history lens Whilst offering a unique reference source for anyone interested in the history of a particular country s textile industry the true strength of this project lies in its capacity of international comparison By providing global comparative studies of key textile industries and workers both geographically and thematically this book provides a comprehensive and contemporary analysis of a major element of the world s economy This allows historians to challenge many of the received ideas about globalization for instance highlighting how global competition for lower production costs is by no means a uniquely modern issue and has b

Finance and Financiers in European History 1880-1960 Youssef Cassis, 2002-06-20 A highly distinguished team of contributors addresses the complex and crucial role of finance in European history during the period 1880 1960

Industrial Clusters and Regional Business Networks in England, 1750-1970 John Wilson, Andrew Popp, 2017-07-05 Although economists have long recognised industrial districts as one of the key features of many economies it is only recently that attention has been focused on the region as an effective means of generating accurate insights into the larger picture of economic performance This renewed interest in regional issues has also placed at centre stage the role played by networks as a principal organisational feature of the local business community providing scholars with a rich topic for investigation and debate Recent work has shown that universal generalisations concerning the impact of networking on the performance of industrial clusters lack credibility highlighting the consequent need to compare the role played by business networks in a variety of regions Using a copious range of research material examining several British regions this volume poses a series of fundamental questions about the nature of industrial clusters and networks Particular attention is paid to identifying the basic characteristics of a network outlining how they evolved in key industrial clusters and assessing their impact on industrial performance both regionally and nationally The durability of such networks is another key thread that runs through the essays prompting comparison with industrial clusters in Britain and abroad These are issues which stimulate discussion on a wide range of factors within the disciplines of business economic and social history
