Grosvenor Bleyer, 2017-10-17 Excerpt from How to Write Special Feature Articles A Handbook for Reporters Correspondents and Free Lance Writers Who Desire to Contribute to Popular Magazines and Magazine Sections of Newspapers To train students to write articles for newspapers and popular magazines may perhaps be regarded by some college instructors in composition as an undertaking scarcely worth their while They would doubtless prefer to encourage their students to write what is commonly called literature The fact remains nevertheless that the average undergraduate cannot write anything that approximates literature whereas experience has shown that many students can write acceptable popular articles Moreover since the overwhelming majority of Americans read only newspapers and magazines it is by no means an unimportant task for our universities to train writers to supply the steady demand for well written articles The late Walter Hines Page founder Of the World's Work and former editor of the Atlantic Monthly presented the whole situation effectively in an article on The Writer and the University when he wrote About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works How to Write Special Feature Articles Willard Grosvenor Bleyer, 2015-11-09 A Master Class In Journalism From 1920 This book is the result of twelve years experience in teaching university students to write special feature articles for newspapers and popular magazines By applying the methods outlined in the following pages young men and women have been able to prepare articles that have been accepted by many newspaper and magazine editors The success that these students have achieved leads the author to believe that others who desire to write special articles may be aided by the suggestions given in this book Although innumerable books on short story writing have been published no attempt has hitherto been made to discuss in detail the writing of special feature articles In the absence of any generally accepted method of approach to the subject it has been necessary to work out a systematic classification of the various types of articles and of the different kinds of titles beginnings and similar details as well as to supply names by which to identify them Particular emphasis is placed on methods of popularizing such knowledge as is not available to the general reader This has been done in the belief that it is important for the average person to know of the progress that is being made in every field of human endeavor in order that he may if possible apply the results to his own affairs The problem therefore is to show aspiring writers how to present discoveries inventions new methods and every significant advance in knowledge in an accurate and attractive form The Author CONTENTS PART I I THE FIELD FOR SPECIAL ARTICLES II PREPARATION FOR SPECIAL FEATURE WRITING III FINDING SUBJECTS AND MATERIAL IV APPEAL AND PURPOSE V TYPES OF ARTICLES VI WRITING THE ARTICLE VII HOW TO BEGIN VIII STYLE IX TITLES AND

Brand New Edition COMPLETE For those who desire to contribute to popular magazines and magazine sections of newspapers Articles should use only necessary words This does not mean using fewer words is always better rather when considering equivalent expressions choose the more concise Consider the view of William Strunk Jr from the 1918 work The Elements of Style Vigorous writing is concise A sentence should contain no unnecessary words a paragraph no unnecessary sentences for the same reason that a drawing should have no unnecessary lines and a machine no unnecessary parts This requires not that the writer make all his sentences short or that he avoid all detail and treat his subjects only in outline but that every word tell Reduce sentences to the essentials Wordiness does not add credibility to articles Avoid temporary expressions like due to the fact that in place of because or at the present time for currently The ideal method of specifying on going events is as of 2013 Grammar bots will replace these types of expressions with correct wording Conciseness does not justify removing information from an article The use of subjective qualifiers should be avoided How to Write Special to its age it may contain imperfections such as marks notations marginalia and flawed pages Because we believe this work is
