The Time Machine H. G. Wells, 1895 English novelist historian and science writer Herbert George Wells 1866 1946 abandoned teaching and launched his literary career with a series of highly successful science fiction novels The Time Machine was the first of a number of these imaginative literary inventions First published in 1895 the novel follows the adventures of a hypothetical Time Traveller who journeys into the future to find that humanity has evolved into two races the peaceful Eloi vegetarians who tire easily and the carnivorous predatory Morlocks After narrowly escaping from the Morlocks the Time Traveller undertakes another journey even further into the future where he finds the earth growing bitterly cold as the heat and energy of the sun wane Horrified he returns to the present but soon departs again on his final journey While the novel is underpinned with both Darwinian and Marxist theory and offers fascinating food for thought about the world of the future it also succeeds as an exciting blend of adventure and pseudo scientific romance Sure to delight lovers of the fantastic and bizarre The Time Machine is a book that belongs on the shelf of every science fiction fan *The Time Machine. Struggle and Evolution Kay Mankus, 2011-11 Seminar paper from the year 2006 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Literature grade Carl von Ossietzky University of Oldenburg Anglistik course Literary Utopias and Dystopias in Britain language English abstract 1 Introduction In this paper I am going to explore the concept of evolution in H G Wells' The Time Machine. This enormously successful and influential novel first published in 1895 has been made into two movies in the twentieth century. The novel is generally credited with the concept of time travel using a vehicle which allows the user to explore the fourth dimension by going forward or backwards in time. On another level it is a critical view of the late nineteenth century Victorian society and an early masterpiece of dystopian writing. Historically considered it is one of the first science fiction writings ever published. Wells himself called his work scientific Romance and the majority of reviewers at the time used the term too. The Time Machine was later seen by literary historians as having laid the path for modern science fiction writing. Moreover the novel utters a sharp criticism of the decadence of the bourgeoisie and provides a critical perspective on the growing gap between upper and lower class in Wells' own time. The main themes and leitmotifs are very ambiguous. The plot illustrates how a typical utopian paradise turns into a dark dystopian vision of a remote future for mankind. In the first part of my paper the focus lies on the novel's structure as well as on the specific literary devices employed. This includes the narrative frame, interesting aspects of the narration and the protagonist who is simply yet amply named The Time Traveller and an overview of the extraordinary structures of time and place.
