Essays on the Materialistic Conception of History (Classic Reprint) Antonio Labriola,2015-07-13 Excerpt from Essays on the Materialistic Conception of History On the tenth of March 1896 the same year that the last despairing revolt of the small producer against capitalism in America was to end in the overwhelming defeat of Bryan an Italian scholar published in the city of Rome the remarkable work which is now for the first time offered to American readers To publish this book in America at that time would have been an impossibility The American socialist movement was then hardly more than an association of immigrants who had brought their socialism with them from Europe Today it numbers at least half a million adherents and its platform is an embodiment of the ideas first adequately stated in the Communist Manifesto of 1848 and now first adequately explained and elaborated in this remarkable work of Labriola The central and fundamental proposition of socialism is not any scheme for reconstructing society on a cut and dried programme nor again is it any particular mathematical formula showing to what extent the laborer is robbed by the present system of the fruits of labor it is precisely this Historical Materialism which Labriola has so admirably explained in the present work About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
