

The background of the cover is a photograph of a sandy beach at sunset. Two acrobats are performing a handstand on the sand. Their silhouettes are dark against the bright orange and yellow sky. The title 'the eternal child' is written in a white, sans-serif font, with 'the' in a smaller size above 'eternal' and 'child' in a larger size below it. The text is centered and partially overlaid by the acrobats' legs.

Eternal Child How Evolution Has Made Children Of Us All:

The Eternal Child Clive Bromhall,2004 Presents the story of an evolutionary process which has shaped the human species This book states that this process known as neoteny has been massively underestimated by scientists It explains mysteries such as why some of us are homosexual the differences between races the need for religion and the dynamic of male female relationships

Juvenescence Robert Pogue Harrison,2014-11-21 A meditation on the human condition in an age when the old aspire to be young from the author of Forests The Shadow of Civilization Children s Literature How old are you The more thought you bring to bear on the question the harder it is to answer For we age simultaneously in different ways biologically psychologically socially And we age within the larger framework of a culture in the midst of a history that predates us and will outlast us Looked at through that lens many aspects of late modernity would suggest that we are older than ever but Robert Pogue Harrison argues that we are also getting startlingly younger in looks mentality and behavior We live he says in an age of juvenescence Like all of Robert Pogue Harrison s books Juvenescence ranges brilliantly across cultures and history tracing the ways that the spirits of youth and age have inflected each other from antiquity to the present Drawing on the scientific concept of neotony or the retention of juvenile characteristics through adulthood and extending it into the cultural realm Harrison argues that youth is essential for culture s innovative drive and flashes of genius At the same time however youth which Harrison sees as more protracted than ever is a luxury that requires the stability and wisdom of our elders and the institutions A heady deeply learned excursion rich with ideas and insights Juvenescence could only have been written by Robert Pogue Harrison No reader who has wondered at our culture s obsession with youth should miss it Harrison explores our culture s understanding of age youth and aging his book will provide mature wisdom indeed Publishers Weekly

Tenacity in Children Sam Goldstein,Robert B. Brooks,2021-04-10 Tenacity in Children examines how multiple generations of parents and caregivers raised children to become successful adults Until relatively recent times in human history there were no schools or organized institutions nor were there parenting books Rather caregivers depended on the seven important instincts that evolved across tens of thousands of years in the human species This volume highlights the ways in which these instincts are more important than ever in preparing children for tomorrow s successes Key areas of coverage include individual chapters devoted to examining each of the seven instincts intuitive optimism intrinsic motivation compassionate empathy simultaneous intelligence genuine altruism virtuous responsibility and measured fairness as well as practical strategies to guide children in acquiring and fine tuning these essential human instincts Tenacity in Children provides a solid foundation to prepare children for a resilient and happy future It offers well defined guideposts for adults committed to providing every child with the opportunity to access strengthen and employ these instincts as they negotiate childhood and passage into adult life This book also serves as a rich resource for researchers practitioners and graduate students in mental health and public health disciplines as well as many interrelated fields as we all strive to promote the well

Age and the Reach of Sociological Imagination Dale Dannefer, 2021-08-09 The dominant narratives of both science and popular culture typically define aging and human development as self contained individual matters failing to recognize the degree to which they are shaped by experiential and contextual contingencies Our understandings of age are thereby boxed in and constricted by assumptions of normality and naturalness that limit our capacities to explore possible alternative experiences of development and aging and the conditions both individual and social that might foster such experiences Combining foundational principles of critical social science with recent breakthroughs in research across disciplines ranging from biology to economics this book offers a scientifically and humanly expanded landscape for apprehending the life course Rejecting familiar but false dichotomies such as nature vs nurture and structure vs agency it clarifies the organismic fundamentals that make the actual content of experience so centrally important in age and development and it also explores why attention to these fundamentals has been so resisted in studies of individuals and individual change and in policy and practice as well In presenting the basic principles and reviewing the current state of knowledge Dale Dannefer introduces multi levelled social processes that shape human development and aging over the life course and age as a cultural phenomenon organizing his approach around three key frontiers of inquiry that each invite a vigorous exercise of sociological imagination the Social Structural Frontier the Biosocial Frontier and the Critical Reflexive Frontier

Fulfilling Ageing Marisa Cordella, Aldo Poiani, 2021-01-04 This book explores the reality of ageing and old age from the perspectives of the individual and society It emphasizes cross cultural aspects of ageing and communication issues both within and across generations The authors approach the understanding of ageing from a multi disciplinary perspective integrating biology psychology linguistics sociology and history The book is organized as follows historical and broader cross cultural issues of ageing followed by biomedical psychological social and communicative aspects of ageing The book concludes with an in depth analysis of the existential dimension of ageing followed by an evolutionary perspective

The SAGE Handbook of Social Gerontology Dale Dannefer, 2010-09-14 This volume reflects the emergence of ageing as a global concern including chapters by international scholars from Asia Australasia Europe and North America It provides a comprehensive overview of key trends and issues in the field drawing upon the full range of social science disciplines The Handbook is organized into five parts each exploring different aspects of research into social aspects of ageing Disciplinary overviews summaries of findings from key disciplinary areas within social gerontology Social relationships and social differences topics include social inequality gender and ageing the role of religion inter generational ties social networks and friendships in later life Individual characteristics and change in later life chapters in this section examine different aspects of individual aging including self and identity cognitive processes and biosocial interactions and their impact on physical and psychological aging Comparative perspectives and cultural innovations topics in this section include ageing and development ageing in a global context migration and cross cultural perspectives on grandparenthood Policy issues The final section examines some of the main policy concerns affecting older people across the world Topics include developments in social policy long term care technology and older people end of life issues work and retirement crime and older people and the politics of old age This will be essential reading for all students researchers and policy makers concerned with the major issues influencing the lives of older people across the globe What's Wrong with Us? Colin Feltham,2007-08-13 What is the scope of the human condition What are the origins of universal human problems What is wrong with education marriage religion and therapy How likely are we as humans to correct these problems Colin Feltham Professor of Critical Counselling Studies at Sheffield Hallam University UK and member of Crisis Forum for the Study of Crisis in the 21st Century argues that the current crises of the human condition are merely symptoms of a chronic wayward tendency otherwise branded in What's Wrong With Us as anthropathology The origins of human suffering are traced with interdisciplinary adeptness exploring the contemporary issues of human violence deceit patriarchy rapaciousness child abuse irrationality and capitalist greed Our human anthropathology is assessed as being at the heart of such problems This book breaks new ground in bringing many anthropathological themes together in a sustained frontal attack on dangerous human anachronisms We cannot be sure that we can solve our problems but we can be sure that denying them will protract and worsen the situation for both ourselves and our descendants A challenging and enlightening book for students and academics in counselling and psychotherapy psychology sociology philosophy and religion Also a gripping read for those with a general interest in our current social state Raising a Self-Disciplined Child: Help Your Child Become More Responsible, Confident, and Resilient Robert B.
