Financial Dynamics:

Financial Dynamics and Business Cycles Willi Semmler, 2019-08-08 As the 55th anniversary of the bank holiday of March 1933 approached financial instability was a main topic in the financial press Daily reports appeared of international debt crises of the covert bankruptcy of deposit insurance and of the near bankruptcy of one great financial institution after another The great stock market crash of October 19 and 20 1929 demonstrated that extreme instability can happen It is generally asserted that the consequences of October 19th and 20th would have been disastrous if the Federal Reserve and Treasury interventions had not set things right In 1933 financial markets in the United States and throughout the capitalist world collapsed In the light of historical experience the past 55 years are the anomaly The papers collected in this volume come from various backgrounds and research paradigms A common theme runs through these papers that makes the collection both interesting and important The authors take seriously the obvious evidence that capitalist economies progress through time by lurching Whether a particular study starts from household utility maximization or from the processes by which productive structures are reproduced and expanded the authors are united in accepting the evidence that financial instability is a significant characteristic of modern capitalism combat terrorism Here we discuss about the increasing financial sources and methods of their modern fundraising The al Qaeda terrorist network and its sources of funding seem very complicated and mysterious at large And much of what we know may only be speculation The CIA has estimated for example that it cost Al Qaeda some 30 million a year to sustain itself during the period preceding 9 11 but the agency is still not sure what al Qaeda needs or expends today What we know today is the modified money transfer system of Al Qaeda the way it moves funds around the globe Before September 11 many financial institutions have helped transfer millions of dollars of al Qaeda s money without any problem However after greater inspection over the past transactions other policies were created to prevent legal transmission of terrorist funds after 9 11 Today terrorists are increasingly using the informal hawala a very historical transaction system To transport the huge amount of cash money diamonds and gold they use donkeys mules and horses to transport to the very remote areas
