The Environmental Imagination Lawrence Buell,1995 With Thoreau's Walden as a touchstone Buell offers an account of environmental perception the place of nature in the history of Western thought and the consequences for literary scholarship of attempting to imagine a more ecocentric way of being In doing so he provides a profound rethinking of our literary and cultural reflections on nature

Darwin's Screens Barbara Creed,2009 Darwin's Screens addresses a major gap in film scholarship the key influence of Charles Darwin's theories on the history of the cinema Much has been written on the effect of other great thinkers such as Freud and Marx but very little on the important role played by Darwinian ideas on the evolution of the newest art form of the twentieth century Creed argues that Darwinian ideas influenced the evolution of early film genres such as horror the detective film science fiction film noir and the musical Her study draws on Darwin's theories of sexual selection deep time and transformation and on emotions death and the meaning of human and animal in order to rethink some of the canonical arguments of film and cinema studies

Science in the Nursery Laurence Talairach-Vielmas,2011-01-18 This edited collection aims to examine the popularisation of science for children in Britain and France from the middle of the eighteenth century to the end of the Victorian period It compares and contrasts for the first time popular science works published at the same time in the two countries focusing both on non fictional and fictional texts Starting when children's literature emerged as a genre to the end of the nineteenth century it addresses the ways in which popular science for children engaged with wider debates and issues concerning such topics as gender or religion Each individual essays brings home how children's literature revealed contemporary tensions which professional scientists confronted The wide range of scientific topics examined from physics and astronomy to natural history and anthropology offers a large spectrum of types of popular science works for children

After Darwin: Animals, Emotions, and the Mind Angelique Richardson,2013-11-10 What is emotion pondered the young Charles Darwin in his notebooks How were the emotions to be placed in an evolutionary framework And what light might they shed on human animal continuities These were among the questions Darwin explored in his research assisted both by an acute sense of observation and an extraordinary capacity for fellow feeling not only with humans but with all animal life After Darwin Animals Emotions and the Mind explores questions of mind emotion and the moral sense which Darwin opened up through his research on the physical expression of emotions and the human animal relation It also examines the extent to which Darwin's ideas were taken up by Victorian writers and popular culture from George Eliot to the Daily News Bringing together scholars from biology literature
