Founding Fictions Jennifer R. Mercieca, 2010-04-15 An extended analysis of how Americans imagined themselves as citizens between 1764 and 1845 Founding Fictions develops the concept of a political fiction or a narrative that people tell about their own political theories and analyzes how republican and democratic fictions positioned American citizens as either romantic heroes tragic victims or ironic partisans By re telling the stories that Americans have told themselves about citizenship Mercieca highlights an important contradiction in American political theory and practice that national stability and active citizen participation are perceived as fundamentally at odds Founding Fictions Jennifer R.

Mercieca, 2012-10-12 An extended analysis of how Americans imagined themselves as citizens between 1764 and 1845 Founding Fictions develops the concept of a political fiction or a narrative that people tell about their own political theories and analyzes how republican and democratic fictions positioned American citizens as either romantic heroes tragic victims or ironic partisans By re telling the stories that Americans have told themselves about citizenship Mercieca highlights an important contradiction in American political theory and practice that national stability and active citizen participation are perceived as fundamentally at odds Founding Fictions Amy Boesky, 1996 A cultural history of utopian writing in early modern England Founding Fictions traces the development of the genre from the publication of Thomas More's Utopia 1516 through Aphra Behn's Oroonoko 1688 Amy Boesky sees utopian literature rising alongside new social institutions that helped shape the modern English nation While utopian fiction explicitly advocates a reorganization of human activity which appears liberal or progressive utopias represent reform in self critical or qualitative ways Early modern utopias Boesky demonstrates are less blueprints for reform than they are challenges to the very possibility of improvement After an initial discussion of More's Utopia Boesky devotes subsequent chapters to Francis Bacon's New Atlantis the Civil War Utopias of Gabriel Plattes Samuel Gott and Gerrard Winstanley Margaret Cavendish's Blazing world and Henry Neville's Isle of Pines Relating the English public school to More's Utopia and early modern laboratories to Bacon's New Atlantis Boesky shows how utopists explored the formation of cultural identity through new institutional models Utopias of the 1640s and 1650s are read against new emphasis on work as the panacea for social ills Cavendish's Blazing world is seen as reproducing and reassessing restoration centers of authority in the court and theater and finally Neville's Isle of Pines and Behn's Oroonoko are read as interrogating the authorities of the English colony Despite widely divergent backgrounds says Boesky these utopists shared a sense that national identity was shaped less by individuals than by institutions which they praise for producing trained and trainable citizens instilled with the values of the modern state obedience discipline and order While the utopia tells its story partly to justify the goals of colonialism and to enforce differences in class gender and race it also tells a concurrent and less stable story that criticizes these ventures and exposes their limitations Cultural Techniques Jörg Dünne, Kathrin

Fehringer, Kristina Kuhn, Wolfgang Struck, 2020-08-24 This volume presents the preliminary results of the work carried out by the interdisciplinary cultural techniques research lab at the University of Erfurt Taking up an impulse from media studies its contributions examine from a variety of disciplinary perspectives the interplay between the formative processes of knowledge and action outlined within the conceptual framework of cultural techniques Case studies in the fields of history literary and media studies and the history of science reconstruct seemingly fundamental demarcations such as nature and culture the human and the nonhuman and materiality and the symbolical order as the result of concrete practices and operations These studies reveal that particularly basic operations of spatialization form the very conditions that determine emergence within any cultural order Ranging from manual and philological paper work to practices of opening up and closing off spaces and collective techniques of assembly these case studies replace the grand narratives of cultural history focusing on micrological examinations of specific constellations between human and nonhuman actors

Shadow of Spirit Philippa Berry, Andrew Wernick, 2006-04-27 By illuminating the striking affinity between the most innovative aspects of postmodern thought and religious mystical discourse Shadow of Spirit challenges the long established assumption that western thought is committed to nihilism This collection of essays by internationally recognised scholars explores the implications of the fascination with the sacred divine or infinite which characterizes much contemporary thought It shows how these concerns have surfaced in the work of Derrida Baudrillard Lyotard Kristeva Irigaray and others Examining the connection between this postmodern turn and the current search for a new discourse of ethics and politics it also stresses the contribution made by feminist thought to this unexpected intellectual direction

Founding Fictions of the Dutch Caribbean, 2007 Cola Debrot's My Black Sister and Boeli van Leeuwen's A Stranger on Earth are two pivotal works from the early period of postcolonial Dutch language fiction from the Dutch Caribbean Each portrays different aspects of the predicament of postcolonial identity gender race and politics in the vein best known as tropic existentialism Founding Fictions of the Dutch Caribbean is suitable for courses on Caribbean literature and postcolonial literature and will be of great interest to readers of fiction in general

Science-fiction Studies, 1981 Materials and Methods of Fiction Clayton Meeker Hamilton, 1908 Feminist Utopian Discourse in Eighteenth-century Chinese and English Fiction Qian Ma, 2004 Beginning with a general discussion of patriarchy as the starting point of feminist utopian literature Qian Ma's study focuses on a cross cultural comparison of feminist utopian discourse in six 18th century Chinese and English fictional narratives Charlotte Lennox's Female Quixote Sarah Scott's A Description of Millennium Hall Samuel Richardson's Clarissa Chen Duansheng's Destiny after Rebirth Cao Xueqin's A Dream of the Red Mansion and Li Ruzhen's Destiny of Flowers in the Mirror and the patriarchal realistic world within fictional narratives and the contrast between fictional ideality and social realities in China and England during the 18th century feminist writers to express social criticism obliquely in the form of utopias the writers discussed in this study were true forerunners of contemporary feminism and their works anticipated today's feminist concerns
